STAR FILTERS

Star Filters has been manufacturing quality stainless steel plate and frame filters for liquid processing applications since 1904. Star Filters also offers a wide range of filter media for almost any filtration application.

Plate & Frame

Star Filter Press products are designed and built to provide years of service and are available with a range of options to meet your specifications. Star plate and frame filter presses are manufactured in multiple standard sizes and materials to meet the requirements of your application. Additional features are available to accommodate every need. The Star filter design offers a number of benefits such as: high sludge capacity, low maintenance, large filtration surface area, easy to operate and simple to clean. Star Filter Press Can be used for a number of applications which include food & beverage, mining, metalworking, pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, biotech processing, chemical and petrochemical processing.

Oil Treatment System (OTS)

Hot oil treatment system greatly reduces oil replacement and disposal costs. The OTS filtration system improves the condition of the oil with each daily treatment, consistently giving you a superior quality end product. You may never throw away hot oil again. The efficiency of a filter press is combined with adsorbent powders to produce clear, high quality, reusable cooking oil and reduce free fatty acids (FFA) and polar compounds.

Poly Press

Star PolyPresses utilize high-quality polypropylene plates to resist corrosive chemicals. Standard air blowdown manifolds ensure drier, easier-to-release cakes. All hydraulic components are fully enclosed to protect them from harsh environments, yet are easy to access for maintenance.
